

Wee Waa High School principal Annabel Doust, left, with Year 8 students Claire Young and Rylee Sadler, were on hand to welcome Tamworth Network's Director of Public Schools NSW Ruythe Dufty.

Director visit to high school

A recent boundary redistribution for public schools has resulted in Wee Waa High School moving from the Moree zone to join the Tamworth network.

This week the school was pleased to welcome Director of Public Schools – Tamworth Network Ruythe Dufty for a familiarisation visit.

"A director who takes a strong personal interest in the schools in her network," principal Annabel Doust said.

"The purpose of Ms Dufty's visit was to get to know the school and gain an understanding of our staff, students and the physical environment."

Ms Dufty toured the school and took the time to sit in on some classes and talk with students about their class work, interests and other school based activities.

Originally from Boggabri, Ms Dufty has extensive experience in both large and small rural schools which gives her an excellent foundation to understand the often unique opportunities and needs of these schools.

"This rich experience in similar sized schools will make Ms Dufty a really positive asset for our school," said Ms Doust.

"With our staff wanting to enhance the visual and physical appeal of our school, Ms Dufty was able to share ideas that other schools in the network have put in place with great success.

"She will be an invaluable support to us for the cross pollination of ideas from school to school.

"Impressed with students' manners, attitude and behaviour, Ms Dufty left with a positive impression of Wee Waa High School and an excellent foundation was laid that we can build upon to enhance the learning opportunities and outcomes of our students."